THE CRIMES BILL.

Mr. Gladstone Moves to Postpone Its Third Reading

TO THIS DAY THREE MONTHS,"

And Maintains His Position in Powerful Speech-Miscellaneous News Paragraphs.

In the Commons.

Lesson, July 7.-In the House of (s=mons, to-night, on a motion made for a third reading of the crimes bill, Mr. Gladstone, amid prolonged cheers, make a counter motion that the bill be and the third time this day three positis. Mr. Gladstone said the bill ss the Conservatives' alternative to Hear!") Further, the bill had been brought in withest say foundation such as underlaid situation of exceptional crime. Mr. allower had disregarded all precedents requiring that the introduction of coercion measures be prefaced by a statement of exceptional crimes.

Mr. Gladstone maintained that the increase of crime in 1886 over 1885, in view of the agricultural distress in Ireland, was exceedingly small. Compating the officials of the Tory government in power in Ireland in 1885 with those in power the first five months in 1887, there was a marked descreak in the amount of agrarian crime, yet in 1885 they had retrained from introducing coercion measures from montres of policy. A comparison of the past and present statistics afforded no thadow of justifications for the present the past Parliament had been nearly ananimous in assessing to coercion, while this bill was opposed by a large majority of the people's the country—

These are in addition to seven men-o-war to be built in France and England, and which are to be completed before the year 1889.

The Japan Gazette publishes advices from Corea, declaring that the Chinese party is practically in the ascendant in that country, and that the dominant party is demanding that the country be closed to foreign intercourse and that western innovations, including telephones, electricilights, mint, powder factories and college for the study of the English language, be abolished. It is claimed that the government is so weak that it has no influence and is unable to enforce its orders upon its subordinates, a hundred or so miles outside the capital. So long as China affects to hold seizerain rights over Corea, the claim is made that peace and prosperity cannot exist, as such connection is certain to cause jealousy and possibly intrigue on the part of other powers, Rassia in particular. The Liberal party, however, is still a strong factor in the country and the prediction is made that the king may appeal to the treaty powers to assist him in throwing off the Chinese bonds. The government of Corea has lately entered into a contract for the purchase of two iron steamers and a steam launch, to be constructed in Germany.

The Effect of the Declination.

Sr. Louis, July 7 .- The President's letter to Mayor Francis, withdrawing his acceptance of the invitation of the people of St. Louis to visit the city during the G. A. R. encampment, has ing the G. A. R. encampment, has stirred up a hot and diversified expression of opinion. The committee that took the invitation to the President feel their labor has been in vain, and are strong in the denunciation of the men who were instrumental in the defeat of their plan. Their friends are equally displeased, especially so, as the citizens of St. Louis had made a great effort to induce the President to make the visit. The chagrin was so great with many that they wished to organize immediately to invite the Grand Army to find another place for their encampment, and some promised a very icy reception to the gallant soldiers. There were many others, however, who saw the wisdom of the President's course and were pleased that the city had been humiliated and are indignant about it, but agree that the Grand Army's encampment shall be a glorious success and that at some other time the President shall have a reception in keeping with the high office he holds. A committee was appointed to draw up resolutions to be submitted to a mass meeting of citizens that will be called to assemble at the Merchants' Exchange to-morrow afternoon. These resolutions will embody an invitation to the President to visit the city, during fair week early in October, or at some other time that nay suit his convenience and will promise him an enthusiastic reception. WASHINGTON, July 7 .- The Indianapolis club defeat d the Washingtons to-day, in a game which, while it was well played, was uninteresting. The Hoosiers bunched their hits on the first innings, and took a decidel lead, which they held to the finish. The pitchers were Boyle and Gilmore; the catchers, Myers and Mack; the score, Indianapolis, 5; Washington, 2. AT BOSTON.

Boston, July 7.-About 2,500 persons witnessed the game to-day between Boston and Pittsburg. McCormack was batted for 24 bases in a total of 34. Kelly batted for 24 bases in a total of 34. Kelly received an ovation, and wielded the bat magnificently, having a total of 9 bases to his credit, Nash, Sutton, Morrill and Radbourne also had on their batting dothes: and kept the visitors leather hunting. The fielding honors were shared by Nash and Miller. Procher.—Radbourne and McCormack; catchers—Daily and Miller. Score—Boston 17, Pittsburg 6

It is practically settled that the President will not visit the west at all during the present year. The abandonment of his proposed visit to St. Louis has resulted in wholly changing the other plans he had made for visiting western cities. It is stated at the White House this afternoon, that the only plans the President has made for leaving Washington during the summer and Autumn are those for his visit to Clinton on the 15th inst., which will probably not consume altogether more than a week's time, and for his visit to Atlanta in October next, on the occasion of the Georgia State Fair.

The government receipts since July 1st amount to $5.577.684, and the expenditures to $15,567.487, or $10,089,803 in excess of the receipts.

The Assistant Secretary of the Interior, to day, rendered a decision in the Fort Boise, Idaho, military reservation case, which is important, as involving the question of the right of a resident to put in reservation public lands not authorized by the act of Congress. The case briefly stated is as follows: In April, 18.3, the President made a reservation of 640 arres for Fort Boise, Idaho, Afterwards on September 18, 1874, he put in the reservation 587 acres adjoining for the purposes of said tort. On April 19, 1884, the military authorities transferred the latter reservation to the control of the Secretary of the Interior for disposal. In 1835 certain settlers went on the latter tract, and applied to take it up under the homestead laws. The Commissioner-General of the Land Office rejected their claims on the ground that the land was held in the reservation is based upon the act of february 14, 1853, which limits the amount that may be reserved for the purposes of a fort to forty acres. The Secretary holds that the President had no authority to put in the reservation.

Dr. Morel Mackenzie:

London, July 7.

The last operation on the Crowin Prince has succeeded completely and no projecting portion of the growth remains. Professor Virchow reports that the excised piece shows even more clearly than the previous ones as a hard, composite, warty growth out of a moderately irritated and thickened surface. The base shows not the slightest ground for assuming the existence of a new growth penetrating into the tissue. The above cablegram conveys the gratifying information concerning the present condition of the Crown Prince, and it effectually allays anxiety as to the grave possibilities which carlier reports led the public to fear were involved in the case.

The Governor's Obsequies.

Augusta, Me., July 7.-The funeral services of the late ex Governor Anson P. Morrill occurred at his residence today. They were conducted by the day. They were conducted by the Rev. H. S. Whiteman, of the Universalist Church, of which Morrill was a member. Governor Bodwel was present to bay his tribute of respect. The pall bearers were: Hon. J. W. Bradbury, Hon. John L. Stevens, Hon. Joseph Homan and Judge Samuel Titcomb. "I Would Not Live Always," Mr. Morrill's favorite hymn, was rendered by the choir. The foral offerings were profuse. The remains were interred in Forest Grove Cemetery.
